Background

After 2 remote seminars organized by WANO Paris Centre in 2022, and after the OE Single Point of Contact Network (SPOC) has been established, WANO PC is pleased to announce the organization of the face-to-face OE WER workshop with OE SPOC participants.

Objectives

The workshop should provide to the OE SPOCs relevant information on OE process and OE SPOC Network initiative and give them the possibility to participate in exercises on how to report events (WERs) to WANO in order to increase the quality of submitted reports.

Topics

The workshop focuses on increasing of quality of reported events. It covers the following:

- OE SPOCs Roles and Responsibilities
- Importance of adequate OE reporting (in a link to Action for Excellence / Enhanced Performance Monitoring program)
- WANO expectations on quality of submitted reports
- Practical exercises to increase quality of submitted events
- Testimonies from participants from different stations/countries

Break-Out Sessions

- Breakout sessions will be used to allow time for interaction with colleagues and together study and improve example reports, and to identify potential improvements for their organizations and to get insights by working together with the community.
- Each working group will be invited to work on the particular examples to increase quality of reported events.

Target group

The workshop is open for appointed OE SPOCs (or their deputies). An intent is to organize similar workshop for PC stations outside Europe in next years, according to future needs and interest. However, all materials, conclusions and actions from the workshops will be shared inside the OE SPOC network.

Due to limited number of participants, registration of not more than one participant per station (OE SPOC or deputy) will be accepted. After the Workshop, it is expected that the OE SPOCs transfer obtained knowledge and skills to other OE reporters in the stations.
